"COME ALONG MARY" SEAT SALE OPENS AT ORPHEUM TODAY

"Come Along Mary," which will be the attraction at the Orpheum next Sunday and Monday, boasts of having one of the prettiest scenes of any present-day musical attraction. The opening of the second act is laid in Hawaii, and shows the grounds of the Oriental Hotel, near Honolulu, surrounded by trees, with over-hanging roofs, and branches, loaded with a wealth of beautiful flowers, peculiar to the Hawaiian island. In the distance can be seen the outline of the lake, with its waters sparkling under the soft rays of the Hawaiian moon. About the hotel grounds are seen groups of people, visitors, travelers and the native Hawaiian girls in their dresses of grass and flowers, while from the distance comes the sweet music of the ukulele and the guitars of the Hawaiians singing their love songs, telling "sweetest story ever told," as only the Hawaiian songs can tell it, and completing one of the most beautiful of stage pictures. Seat sale opens today.

Some of the Reds who took a trip on the Soviet Ark were citizens—but only 2.75 per cent so.

A good many men of our acquaintance would gladly go back to the daily slipper to fall heir to the daily bread.

RECKLESS BUYING NEARING ITS END

Bank Officials Believe Post-War Era of Extravagance and High Prices Receding

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Nation wide reports from federal reserve bank officials disclose their opinion that the post-war era of "extravagance and reckless buying" by the public is nearing its end.

A "hesitation, if not an actual recession," of prices is noted and the federal reserve board's statement summarizes its advice as indicating a generally more hopeful view of the country's business condition than for several months.

While the price changes were shown by the board not to be universal, they would nevertheless be regarded as positive and of importance as a basis for reckoning what the immediate future holds.

High Prices at Peak

Relief from the high prices for the consumer will not be completely obtained until present stocks are absorbed in practically all lines, according to the board's view. Manufacturers everywhere, however, were shown to hold the view that the peak of high prices has been reached and to expect a gradual recession.

In the clothing trade, particularly, the board said there was a marked tendency of the public to make out supplies last longer and to refuse to pay exorbitant prices. This phase can mean only that an awakening has come, the statement said, and that many people have arrived at the conclusion that they are themselves responsible for a continuing of high cost of living.

Wholesalers in the drygoods trade, to some extent, have taken a "complementary attitude" and are discouraging their customers from placing heavy fall orders. This has served to slacken demand and create a feeling that lower prices will follow.

The reports do not give encouragement concerning a price reduction in shoes. There was, however, a wide divergence of opinion as to what shoe and leather prices will do.

Commodities Piling Up

Eastern seaboard cities reported a "piling up" of commodities on this side of the Atlantic. The exchange situation was beginning to reflect itself on the export market as well as through a general reduction by Europeans in their foreign buying, it was noted.

Business and financial developments during March also were marked by confusion and lack of uniformity of opinion, reports from the several reserve districts showed. But throughout the detailed observations of these officials, there was a distinctly optimistic tone. Summed up, it was:

The outlook for the spring season, both industrially and agriculturally, is excellent. But modifying factors in the situation are an inadequacy of labor supply and a shortage of various kinds of building materials, as well as borrowing facilities of banks.

Step in Right Direction

Officials said that the full meaning of the changed attitude of the public probably would show definite results so slowly as to be almost imperceptible. They explained that it was "a step in the right direction" and that its value was increased because there had been no appreciable letting down in the volume of legitimate business.

Housing Conditions Acute

The housing situation continued acute throughout the country, partly as a result of labor conditions, but more largely because thousands of families are deserting the farms for "what they believe are greater opportunities" in the cities. There was, however, another reason advanced: Capital is slow to engage in new building ventures because of the unfavorable conditions of taxation. This, of course, applies to general construction work as well as to housing in the limited sense, the statement said.

"Production conditions the country over," the statement continued, "give every reason for encouragement with reference to actual industrial and agricultural potentialities. The crop outlook so far as can be judged at this season, is hopeful. There is a substantial degree of harmony between capital and labor as indicated by small unemployment.

Difficulties in Sight

"The difficulties in sight are due to conditions of relative under-production or decrease of production resulting from lessened activity of both capital and labor, problems arising out of heavy taxation and measures resulting from the one-sided working of the tax laws, while, financially speaking, caution and conservatism are called for and the efforts to restrict the volume of credit have been only partially successful. As a result, high interest rates and a relative scarcity of funds will continue to prevail during the period in which the country is endeavoring to extend its productive capacity and to overcome the relative loss of progress resulting from limitations upon investment and production."

Simplified Spelling No Longer Endorsed

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 1.—Simplified spelling no longer has the sanction of the American Language Association of America as an organization. Its use in the association's publications was abandoned today by a vote of the association at its annual meeting because of lack of public enthusiasm for the new method, because it was declared to be making no progress and because it offended some of the members of the association. Simplified spelling had been used by the association for eleven years.

The association also voted to affirm its official approval to the simplified form of spelling, the sanction extending only to its use in its own publications. Honorary membership in the association was extended to Sir Walter Raleigh, professor of English literature, Oxford, England, and to Alfred Morel-Fatio, professor of the modern languages and literature of southern European college of Paris.
